

Off the Pews is coordinating a group of youth interested in medical and STEM careers to participate in an interactive broadcast of a live open heart surgery. Students will go into an operating room via video conference as a surgical team performs heart surgery. Youth will be able to talk to the surgical team while they are working.

This session “Live from the Heart!” Is specifically designed for youth ages of 15 and above. This event is the offspring of an exciting partnership between Advocate Christ Medical Center and the Museum of Science and Industry committed to exposing high school and college students to medical and STEM careers.
